Dear Professor Childress:

We are happy to inform you that your article "Evaluating Developmental Education Programs: A Proposed Model and Guidelines for Higher Education Administrators" has been accepted for publication in our strictly refereed national journal: The National Social Science Journal. We only accept approximately 12%-15% of all articles submitted.

Your article will be printed in one of our quarterly publications for the year 2014. We have an electronic journal at our new web site: <http://www.nssa.us> and your article will first appear online in that journal. The journal will then be printed in hard copy and sent to you. In order to get your article published in a timely fashion you need to follow the specific guidelines on the enclosed Author Guidelines sheet.

At the national board meeting in Las Vegas the board voted to remove all page fees from the national journals and to make sure that copyright remains with the authors of the articles.

We need to receive from you by July 14, 2014 the final article in the format required by the author guidelines attached. We appreciate the submission of this journal to our national journal and look forward to the publication of your article first online and then in the printed format. The association has been working hard to upgrade our review system and to create a timely review system.

Sincerely,

Dr. Jerry Baydo
Executive Director
